A VISITOR WANTED.

A Sacramento despatch of July 31st to the San Francisco Examiner says:

"Extradition papers for Richard E. Taylor, alias Frank B. Chandon, were received at the Governor's office this morning. Taylor is at Honolulu and is one of the men implicated in the forgery of Mrs. E.
B. Crocker's name to a $4,000 check at San Jose some time ago."

There was a tourist here of that name, who did the islands pretty well, but he has seemingly gone out of sight.

AN OIL PAINTING.

In the store of King Bros., Hotel street, may be seen an oil painting of a black Clyde stallion named Lord Lynedoch. It is the work of Mr. Joseph Finkler, proprietor of the City Meat Market, and is exceedingly creditable to him. The animal is one of the heavy draught build, and was copied from a small photograph. Mr. Finkler is possessed of no mean ability as an animal painter, as specimens of his work have been seen here before. This latest one is very faithfully executed in every detail. It has been enclosed in a gilt frame and at the bottom is a black walnut scroll with the name of the horse on in gilt letters.

BON VOYAGE.

Quite a number of passengers are booked to leave for the Coast by the R. M. S. Zealandia on Saturday.
Mr. C. P. Franklin, a tourist who has been doing the islands the past two months, returns home.
Mrs. R. W. McClesney and child and L. McClesney are going to San Francisco to remain permanently.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Renton of Kauai will spend about two months in California visiting.
Mr. and Mrs. Robt. W. Wallace of Puhehu, are going right through to England to be absent for some time visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. Geo. C. Beckley, pursor of the S. S. Kinan, will go as far as San Francisco where he expects to meet his wife and the Cummins party. He returns with them in September.

The Rev. Dr. Dwinell and wife return to Oakland. The Rev. Dr. has very ably supplied the pulpit of the Central Union Church during the past month, and with his amiable wife has made many friends.

Mr. Edward Suhr of the firm of H. Haackfeld & Co., and Mr. Hermann Focke of Hoffschlaeger & Co., go direct to Europe to be absent about nine months. They propose having a good time, as they have not been away from the islands for ten years.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wood of Kohala will remain in California until about next spring.

Mr. C. S. Thomas, a prominent lawyer of Denver, Colorado, who with his wife and family has been doing the islands, including a visit to the Volcano, returns home.

Capt. G. F. Smith, a well known shipping merchant of San Francisco who arrived on the Alameda, has visited the different points of interest and the Volcano, and returns benefited by the trip.

Messrs. G. F. Allard and J. D.
Schuyler, two civil engineers who came on business connected with the Oahu Railway, return to California.

Mr. J. M. Lydgate, manager of the Laupahoehoe plantation, leaves for an extended trip in the States.
Previous to his leaving Laupahoehoe he was presented with a watch and chain as a token of esteem from the residents of that district.

A VISIT TO THE BAY.

The Latest Addition to the Pythian Family, by Brothers of Mystic and Aloha Lodges.

(Concluded.)

The ride from Honolulu to Kukuiahale and Waipio, a distance of eight miles, was not over a flat road, but one broken by numerous gullies. It is a continuous up and down hill journey. The writer with four others made the trip in a four-mule thoroughbred, while the others were accommodated with brake and some on horseback. The cane on either side of the road from Pa-hauha to Kukuiahale looks in a flourishing condition—sticks large, round, and long-jointed, appearing not to have suffered any from the drought that has prevailed this season on the Islands. Truly it is a blessed district.

The night brought on more lodge work, the Mystic team having charge, conferring the "Amplified" on three aspirants. The work was done in their par excellence style, with each candidate the brothers in the team changing places, to show their knowledge of the ritual. After the convention, refreshments were served. This time no tricks were played. The piece de resistance was clam chowder, which was very fine and nobody but a Miller could prepare it.

The next morning, while the Maile and the representatives for Honolulu and Waikua were waiting at the lodge room preparatory to having their photos taken, a newly-made knight of the night before entered the room who was in fault as to an instruction he had received.
He was immediately pointed upon charges preferred, and committed to trial. A Counsel was appointed to defend the accused; after argument a jury was waived. The pleas and arguments offered by counsel of either side were exceedingly racy, being replete with spicy sayings and showing a great want of knowledge of law, especially in the case of the presiding judge. After two hours of legal fun and fattening process, the knights adjourned to the front of the hall, where Bro. W. O. Lack-land in the one hundredth part of a second counterfeited the entire group by the aid of a camera. Then followed comic groupings slyly shot at with the "Kodak."

In the evening, by general invitation, the knights assembled at the beautifully laid out residence of Bro. W. H. Rickard, Past Chancellor of Maile lodge. Time before dinner was spent in promenade the spacious grounds, inhaling the perfume of sweet-scented flowers and indulging in whisperings of secrets and jokes played on four knights banded together in a cottage nicknamed "Knights' Paradise." The sounding of a trombone announced that the inner man was requested to make his appearance before his Highness Gastronomy and show cause why he should not serve a sentence of two hours at the festive board. Two ladies, twenty knights and two strangers sat down with happy looks at the banquet provided by the genial host and hostess, Bro. W. H. Rickard and wife. To say that justice was not done to the cuisine would be unkindly; the way that the good things disappeared was a caution.
Seemingly the brothers are gifted with good appetites, and are not novices in recognizing palatable edibles.

The table, having about sixty-five feet of seating space, was beautifully decorated with flowers strewn around in profusion; a gay and happy congregation sat at that board, with bright looks, happy expression, intelligent repartee, denot-ing an exceptional gathering.
The first toast of the evening was prefaced by a sketch entitled, "Landing of the Pilgrims," giving an account of the knights landing at Paahau and journeying to Honolulu. The wording of the effusion was a play on the names of all the knights present at the festive board, the piece ending as follows:
"Where we are assembled to-day to partake of the hospitality of the Past Chancellor of Maile No. 4, long may he live, and may the Maile grow and entwine in its fragrant embrace the entire district of Hamakua. I cannot fuller express a sentiment than offering this as a toast to the health and happiness of our Bro. W. H. Rickard, and his good wife and family."

Bro. W. H. Rickard responded at length, showing that he is all heart and soul a Pythian Knight. In all twenty-one speeches were made, creating good cheer and spontaneous bursts of sympathy.

Before parting for the night came, Bro. J. Marsden regaled the company with a hearing of his operatic and dramatic powers, and, to borrow an expression, simply "brought down the house." Messrs. E. B. and H. S. Rickard proved themselves to be musicians on the concertina in concert was grand. Before parting at the table, all joined hands and sang the old song of sympathetic heartbeat, "Auld Lang syne."

The trip to Honolulu is a red letter one for the knights that undertook it. The best possible care was taken of them. All enjoyed themselves hugely, and many thanks are extended to Bro. Knight R. M.
Overend and his good wife, Bro.
J. R. Mills and J. K. Miller, and the other brothers of Maile, who so largely, liberally and with whole souls accommodated and entertained the party.

The writer and three other knights composing the "Knights' Paradise" individually and collectively thank the brothers of Maile Lodge, and especially Bro. W. H.
Rickard and wife who so graciously entertained them at their house. We were brothers indeed, and we cannot find words to express our appreciation for their hospitality. Before closing we must place credit where it is due. The promoter of Maile No. 4 is E. W. Estep, a brother of Danville (Indiana) lodge No. 48, and was assisted by Bro. T.
O'Brien of Mystic No. 2, and Albert de la Nux of Oahu No. 1.
These three knights put all their hearts in establishing a lodge at Honolulu and furthering the good of the Order universal.

Long may Maile No. 4 live and do good, and God bless the good people of Hamakua.

The following are the names of knights and friends who partook of the bounteous banquet: Z. K. Meyers, J. Gallagher, A. Gartenberg, T. O'Brien, Dr. Greenfield, Dr. A.
Crane, E. W. Estep, E. B. Rickard, Geo. Stratemeyer, J. Marsden, J.
Kidwell, J. Miller, Mrs. W. H.
Rickard, C. E. Kempster, Mrs.
Kempster, F. S. Armstrong, A. V.
Gear, C. Forster, E. B. Carley, W.
O. Barnhardt, P. Hammel, R. Fuller, H. S. Rickard and W. H.
Rickard.

FROM M. THOMPSON'S DIGEST OF HAWAIIAN SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

In Preparation.

AGENT AND PRINCIPAL.

Although agents are not legally entitled to any profits, yet where they had exercised due diligence in making their contracts, of freight-ments, their principals could not vocate their contracts, if at some other period, before or after, a less rate of freight had obtained. And it put on board their own ships, the lowest rate of freight in the market only could be charged. Wilcox v.
Hanks 2 Haw. 296.

In a case of culpable rashness in the conduct of the master of a vessel, resulting in hardship and personal suffering to the complainants, belonging to the crew of said vessel, as well as a loss of time and breach of the contract of shipment, the owners of the vessel were held responsible in damages, for the acts of the master, as being within the scope of his authority, the same as if the acts had been committed by the owners themselves. Makaula vs. the brig "Valua," 2 Haw. 355.

Where by the fault of the master, a vessel was detained in the Northern seas, so late as to render it impossible to return to the port where the contract of shipment was made, and whereby the term of service had expired, the Court fixed a date at which the accounts under the contract should be closed, and decreed that a quantum meruit should be paid to the libellants for the ensuing period of service, forming a reasonable extra allowance, to be based upon the shares they were to receive during the first term of service. Ib.

Where a charge is based upon usage, the usage must be satisfactorily proven, before it can be allowed. Ib.

An agent, acting within the usual scope of the business entrusted to him, binds the principal by his acts.
Spencer v. Bennet, 2 Haw. 415.

If there are any express or unusual limitations, binding the exercise of such authority in the ordinary course of the business, they cannot affect the right of the purchaser, who deals with the agent in ignorance of them. Ib.

An authority to sell, implies an authority to sell on a credit, if that be usual. The allegation of fraud is not sufficient; it must be proved, not surmised. Ib.

Courts will be cautious in sustaining charges of this character. Ib.
Notice of suit brought home to the agent, doing business in this country, regarded quite as effectual as if served upon the non-resident defendant personally, in accordance with the provisions of section 1102 Civil Code. Purdy v. Janion, 2 Haw. 453.

It is incumbent upon the masters or agents of whale ships, to make up, at the expense of the owners, the accounts between the ship and each officer or seaman of the crew, and any usage to the contrary declared unreasonable and would not be sustained by the court. Warren v. bark Benj. Rush, 2 Haw. 468.

An agent, holding himself out as a principal, incurs the liability to the same extent as if he were principal. Montgomery v. Montgomery, 2 Haw. 677.

A general authority conferred upon the master of a vessel to conduct a whaling and trading voyage for a limited period of time, is not to be extended as giving him the power to establish sub-agencies at different points beyond the period expressly set forth. Caplan v.
Hoffschlaeger and Stappenhorst, 2
Haw. 691.

The Planter's Monthly for August sustains the reputation of that useful periodical. It has many practical articles bearing on the sugar industry and new products capable of being developed in these islands.

New York Goes Equitable by a Large Majority.

No better example of the estimation in which this great Company is held, can be given, than by a comparative statement of the business done by itself and its chief competitors in their common home, the city of New York. In New York a man can get his information direct from the Home Office of the largest companies, and has more accurate opportunities of judging their respective merits than anywhere else. As a result in the City of New York during the year 1888 the Equitable wrote a larger amount of new business than was written by its Two Largest Competitors Combined. In the State of New York the Equitable wrote $1,808,431 more insurance than the aggregate of its Two Largest Competitors Taken Together. It did the Largest Business in the United States, as well as in the World at a time when all Companies were straining every nerve to pass it.

The reason why this universal verdict goes with the Equitable is on account of the Popularity of its Plans and the Promptness and Fairness of its Business Methods. As the Pioneer in reforms its Policies have been and are being extensively imitated by others, a most graceful tribute to their merit.

The primary object of Life Insurance is to provide ready money against death. No Company can approach the Equitable record for promptness in this regard. The New Policy of the Equitable just out is (like a bank draft) a simple promise to pay and is without conditions on its back.
